
Events management

I have been waiting for such a product for a long time, since I would need it for event managers, but still it requires some adjustments.

it would be used to book stands for events (fixed time then, no choice on days and hours, eg from 8/24/07 to 8/30/07).

So users should be able to choose stands (not tables) in 3-4 formats, and a good plus would be the ability to show an underlying map (a jpg maybe) under stands. It could as well turn useful for restaurants (think about a owner placing tables in exact locations of his restaurant).

In the end, an integration with existing online payment systems would be great, allowing users to book stands paying for them through the site.

Thanks for your effort,it looks very promising!!
